MEN BURIED ALIVE BY A MINE CAVE IN.

Seven Are Entombed Behind a Wall of Earth.

ONE TAKEN OUT ALIVE BUT WILL DIE.

Another Can Be Heard Calling For Help From His Living Tomb But Cannot be Reached—The Balance of them are Supposed to Have Been Suffocated.

ALLENTOWN, Pa., March 1—[Special]—Seven men were buried in a big cave-in at the slate mine near Williamstown this morning. One man was taken out alive but will die. Another can be heard behind the mass of earth that cuts him off from rescue but it is thought that the others have all perished.

THE CAUCUS IS FINISHED

Democratic Senators Agree On Tariff and The Bill Goes Back

WASHINGTON, March 1.—The tariff bill goes back to the finance committee without instructions. The caucus failed to change any of its main provisions. Free wool, free lumber, free salt and free iron ore still stand along with the income tax. Coal has a revenue duty of 40 cents per ton, and sugar is still subject to a possible tax not exceeding one cent per pound. Ad valorem duties remain.

The principal speeches against the bill were made by Brice and Hill, while Chairman Voorhees talked in its favor. Brice repeated his objections that the bill was not constructed on the lines of revenue, while Hill devoted himself largely to the system of ad valorem duty. He attacked it vigorously, contending that a general adoption of this system in opposition to the specific system would prove delusive, and be the means of encouraging a great deal of fraud in the collection of the revenues. He said also that the people most interested in the tariff were generally opposed to this system, not only for these reasons, but because of the uncertainties and intricacies which it involved.

Senator Mills contended for the ad valorem system as the most equitable and just to all concerned, and declared that this system was no more liable to abuse under the proper administration of the law than the other.

Senator Gorman made a long speech, and there was a vast amount of other talking, but in view of the result the talking is of no consequence. The one thing which stands out before the democratic members of the finance committee is that they are to follow the dominating sentiment in the caucus, which was for few increases in the schedules of the Wilson bill, for retaining the income tax, for increasing the changes from specific to ad valorem duties whenever possible, for enlarging the free list, and for not giving more than one cent to sugar under any circumstances.

WRANGLE IN THE HOUSE.

Mr. Johnson of Ohio Tries to Force a Quorum on the Bland Motion.

WASHINGTON, March 1.—After the opening of the session yesterday Mr. Geissenhainer (dem.) of New Jersey ried to secure unanimous consent for consideration of the bill making an appropriation to save the armament of the wrecked Kearsarge, but Mr. Bland demanded the regular order.

After the calls of committees for reports, Mr. Kilgore (dem.) of Texas presented the following resolution as a question of privilege:

"Resolved, That the sergeant-at-arms be required to report to this house without delay the names of such absentees, and whether or not the law in such cases made and provided has been by him complied with, and that if it has not been complied with, to report his reasons why he has been derelict in his duty in that regard, and if in his judgment the law can not be complied with, that he be required to give his reasons why it can not be enforced."

Mr. Reed made the point of order that the resolution was not privileged. The speaker decided that the resolution as drawn up was not privileged, but if it contained an allegation to the effect that an officer of the house had been derelict in his duty it would be clearly of that character. Accordingly Mr. Kilgore withdrew it to make the change suggested.

Thereupon Mr. Bland moved that the house go into committee of the whole for the consideration of the seigniorage bill. Mr. Bland also moved that general debate on this bill close at 3 o'clock to-morrow. On the latter motion he demanded the previous question.

The vote was the signal for a break in the New York delegation, Messrs Cummings, Chancey and Magnor declining longer to give countenance to the filibustering of their colleagues by not voting.

During the progress of roll call Mr. Johnson, democrat, of Ohio, rose to a point of order. He called attention to the fact that the rules required members to vote, and that the member whose name the clerk had just called (Bingham) refused to answer to his name.

The speaker said the roll call could not be interrupted.

Mr. Johnson then reserved the point of order and the roll call proceeded. At its conclusion Mr. Livingston of Georgia renewed the point of order made by Mr. Johnson, and under that rule he demanded that Mr. Tracey, who had refused to vote, be held in contempt of the house. Mr. Johnson said he had a list of twenty-five members who had violated the rule. Mr. Livingston demanded that the speaker enforce the rule under the decision of the Supreme court.

"But," returned the speaker, "the chair has no power to enforce the rule. The rules require that gentlemen shall not smoke on the floor. The chair only has the power to request members to abide by the rule in this particular. The chair is the organ of the house, not its master, and as long as the present occupant is in the chair he will never make a rule." The speaker then announced the result of the Bland vote, 169 to 5, five short of a quorum.

The vote then recurred upon Mr. Bland's demand for the previous question to limit debate. The deadlock was broken on this vote after two weeks of filibustering. The demand for the previous question on Mr. Bland's motion was sustained, 177 to 7. Mr. Tracey immediately moved to reconsider the vote by which the demand was sustained.

A quorum having been secured Mr. Outhwaite from the committee on rules reported a special order to discharge the committee of the whole from further consideration of the pending bill (the seigniorage bill), and providing that after two hours' consideration in the house the previous question should be considered as ordered on the bill, and pending amendments no intervening motions to be in order.

Upon the adoption of the order Mr. Outhwaite demanded the previous question. As the roll call was proceeding Mr. Reed precipitated a lively scene by challenging the correctness of the tally. Finally the speaker had his name called on the demand of the previous question on the adoption of the special order and it was sustained by 170 to 10, one more than a quorum. The vote was then taken on the adoption of the special order. The quorum was lost on the vote on the adoption of the special order by 165 to 11, three short of a quorum. Mr. Outhwaite stated that this question would come up as soon as the house convened today and the house adjourned.

TEXT OF BREWER'S OPINIONS.

Judicial Utterances Which Find Disfavor with Somers.

WASHINGTON, March 1—The opinions rendered by Justice Brewer, which Representative Somers of Wisconsin would have investigated, were both in cases of strikers who were accused of interfering with railroad property while in the hands of receivers. The decision of Justice Brewer is thus summarized in the federal report:

"Where the employes of a railroad company whose property is in the custody of this court, by concert of action quit work and take possession of and obstruct the movement of engines and cars on the tracks of said company, and while so doing also take possession of or obstruct the operation of engines or cars in the custody of the receivers of this court, it is the right and duty of the court to punish such acts as contempt of its authority. This court is open to hear any just ground of complaint against its receivers. A simple request to do or not to do a thing made by one or more of a body of strikers under circumstances calculated to convey a threatening intimation with a design to hinder or obstruct employes in the performance of their duties is not less obnoxious than the use of physical force. A request under such circumstances is a direct threat and will be punished as such."

The other case was that of railroad men in Colorado, brought before Justice Brewer on similar charges in the same year. The federal report gives his opinion as follows:

"Where employes of a railroad company that is in the hands of a receiver appointed by the court are dissatisfied with wages paid them they may abandon their employment and by persuasion or argument induce other employes to do the same, but if they resort to threats or violence to induce others to leave or accomplish their purpose without actual violence by overawing the others by preconcerted demonstrations of force, and thus prevent the receiver from operating the road, they are guilty of contempt of court."

More Land for Settlers.

WASHINGTON, March 1—The question of opening the Uintah and Uncompahgre reservations in Utah to settlement is under consideration by Acting Secretary of the Interior Sims. The amount of land involved is estimated at 4,000,000 acres which are rich in valuable minerals, and there are 400,000 acres of asphaltum land.

For a Nicaragua Canal Inquiry.

WASHINGTON, March 1.—A resolution calling for a complete congressional investigation of the affairs of the Nicaragua canal company and looking to government control of the canal has been introduced in the house by Representative Geary of California. It provides that a special committee of five be appointed by the speaker to investigate and report to the house.

BLIND PIG WORKS WITHOUT ANY HELP

A BRODHEAD MAN CHARGED WITH FOSTERING ONE.

A Monroe Court Commissioner Holds Him For Trial Despite the Work in His Behalf by William Smith of Janesville and Burr Sprague of His Native Heath.

MONROE, March 1—Charles Laube was held for trial on the charge of selling liquor by means of a "sightless pig" dispite the fact that William Smith of Janesville and Burr Sprague fought the case well for him. Many witnesses have been sworn and a notable characteristic is their weak memory. They acknowledge that there is what is called a blind pig. When you enter the building you pass through two doors and you find yourself in a room with a wheel that is fastened in the wall. They drop their money on a wheel and call out "straight whisky," but there memory is so poor and their judgement so lacking they they don't know what it was what they got. One witness said if he got what he called for it was whisky. No one knows who works the little wheel.

SOVEREIGN SPEAKS HIS MIND.

Again Defies Judge Jenkins and Advises Northern Pacific Employes.

ST. PAUL, Minn., March 1.—Grand Master Workman James R. Sovereign of the Knights of Labor addressed 400 workingmen at Labor Hall last night. At the close he touched on the injunction of Judge Jenkins and the troubles of the Northern Pacific employes. The room contained many employes of the Northern Pacific road, who evinced the liveliest interest in all Mr. Sovereign said concerning the injunction. He said:

"I offer a vigorous and solemn protest in the name of the American republic. That injunction denies me the right to confer with the Northern Pacific employes, and I deny any court on earth the right to so restrict my liberty. If circumstances ever become such that I feel it my duty to extend advice, encouragement and sympathy to the employes of the Northern Pacific road, I say now, without fear or favor, that I will extend it without respect to the infamous injunction of Judge Jenkins. I am willing to make it a test case now if I go to jail within five minutes." A wild burst of applause greeted this last remark. "That injunction," he continued, "is an invasion of our rights and our liberties as American citizens, for which to-day the judge who signed it stands as an object of investigation for impeachment."

Then he followed with a discussion of the injunction served on Secretary Carlisle, and spoke of it as a disastrous precedent. He said he had received scores of letters from all parts of the country offering men and Winchester rifles to solve the questions that now beset the workingmen, but he thought bullets should not be talked about until failure had come at the polls. He will speak at St. Louis Saturday.

MANY MINERS SHOT DOWN.

Hundreds of Armed Men In Battle in a West Virginia Mob

CHARLESTON, W. Va., March 1—News reached here last evening of a bloody riot in the Kanawha coal region in which, at least one man was killed, three fatally injured, and many others hurt. The trouble was at Eagle, a mining town on the Chesapeake & Ohio road.

A mass meeting of striking miners of Kanawha valley was called and 400 miners responded to the call. All came well armed. The meeting had just been called to order when one fellow cried: "Let's bring Wyant out!" Wyant's mines are at Eagle, two miles below the place of meeting, and men are working there at reduced wages. The man's cry was taken up and the mob, frenzied with rage, rushed down on the Eagle mines.

The miners there had been telephoned of the approach of strikers and had armed themselves with Winchester rifles and prepared to receive the visitors. Men soon appeared, howling and yelling at the top of their voices. Wyant's men hid behind a large embankment and grimly awaited the onslaught. It came in an instant. The strikers, clambering over the embankment, were met with a volley of 100 shots. The fire was returned, three men falling. When the smoke cleared away one man was found dead, two more were dying, and eight were seriously wounded. A private dispatch says the fight is still on and that many have been wounded.

Gov. McCorkle has ordered Company K of the state militia to hold itself in readiness for immediate action. Private Secretary White is on the scene of action sending bulletins hourly. The governor has issued an order to captains of companies at Hinton and Huntington to hold themselves in readiness to meet his special train to leave in two hours.

A telephone message received at 10:30 from Wyant says the outlook is serious and another attack imminent. State aid is implored.

From information just received it seems the strikers retired after the first volley. Light skirmishing has been going on for three hours. No more dead are reported. A dispatch received at 1 a. m. says the Fayette county sheriff with a posse is defending the Wyant mines. The troops under Major Banks will leave for the scene at 1:30. The situation is more serious, and quick action by the governor is implored The rioters are on the mountain and the sheriff is at the tipple.

WHEELING, W. Va., March 1.—A telegram received at 2 o'clock says fifty additional men from Morris Creek and thirty from Montgomery have just gone to Eagle. Fifty Winchesters were in the first mob and a number of the strikers were without rifles, but had pistols.

They threaten to cut the telegraph wires and tear up the railroad. Superintendent Knapp of the Chesapeake & Ohio road has the track guarded.

Deputy Sheriff Koontz says there will be another attack before morning, and that he can not repulse it. Three companies of the state troops have gone to the scene.

HOT WORDS IN COURT.

Judge Wing Calls Mr. Bottum an Infernal Falsifier.

CHICAGO, March 1.—Judge Tuthill's courtroom was crowded yesterday to listen to the continuation of Judge Wing's address to the jury in closing the defense of Dan Coughlin. Public interest in the case seems to increase day by day as the end draws nigh. All the seats were occupied, the aisles were filled and rows of spectators were ranged along the walls when court was opened.

Judge Wing resumed his speech and in its course spoke at length of Budenbender, whom he characterized as a truthful relator of a fact he had observed. "Do you know what they did with this man Budenbender? He had not a pleasant experience here in your town. He was seized by a policeman."

"I object to this," said Mr. Bottum, rising. "Nothing of the kind was done. The statement is not true."

"It is true!" shouted Judge Wing. "Budenbender was taken by a policeman and rushed into the office of the state's attorney, where a hearing was held."

"It is not true," reiterated Mr. Bottum, now very red in the face and his voice trembling with anger.

"It is true," repeated Judge Wing in tones of passion. "This man"---pointing to Bottum, "is a falsifier and an infernal one, too."

"Stop this now. You must be silent!" cried Judge Tuthill, with flushed face, and pounding the desk with his gavel. Judge Wing apologized, and she court warned him against a repetition of the offense. The event alluded to by Judge Wing occurred at the last trial and therefore was not true of the present trial, and Judge Tuthill instructed the jury that the statement must be regarded as untrue.

THE RESIGNATION RUMOR.

Premiership of England Said to Have Been Offered to Roseberry.

LONDON, March 1.—The Edinburgh Evening News to-day repeats emphatically that Mr. Gladstone has resigned and that the premiership has been offered to Lord Roseberry. Mr. Gladstone is understood to have made a proposal to his colleagues to revive the home rule question in the shape of a resolution pledging the house of commons to deal with home rule for Ireland at the following session of parliament. This proposal is said not to have found favor with the cabinet ministers.

LORD ROSEBERRY.

The reports that Mr. Gladstone has resigned will not down, and, despite denials, the fact that he visited the queen yesterday is taken as evidence of the truth of the persistent rumors.

BLOWN FROM THEIR BEDS.

Home of a Physician in Lancaster, Pa., Shattered by an Explosion.

LANCASTER, Pa., March 1.—This city was thrown into great excitement shortly before midnight by the explosion of a dynamite bomb in the heart of the city, wrecking a fine residence and imperiling many lives. Luther Hassler was on his way home when he saw a man cross the street to the home of Dr. J. E. Baker, a prominent physician. The men lighted a match and then walked down Grand street. In a moment there was a defeaning roar, which rocked the houses in the vicinity and almost knocked Hassler off his feet. The Baker house was terribly shattered by the explosion, and the family, who were in bed, had a narrow escape from fatal injuries, the force of the explosion being sufficient to hurl them from their beds.

WOMAN KILLED BY THIEVES.

Husband Makes a Desperate Fight to Save Her Life.

DUNDEE, Mich., March 1.—At 11 o'clock last night two men entered the house of Henry Giraman, township treasurer of Exeter township, through a window in the dining-room and entered the bedroom. The noise aroused Mrs. Giraman, who got up to see what it was, awakening her husband at the same time. As she rose up she was shot through the head and instantly killed.

Mr. Giraman grappled with the man and threw him against a window, knocking it completely out, sash and all, when he was knocked in the head by the second man, the blow knocking him senseless. When he recovered consciousness he started for neighbors for assistance, but the murderers had flown, leaving no trace behind. They secured $780, which was in the bed. There was also $375 that was hid in another part of the bed they did not find. The robbers must have been local talent, as they seemed to know the time to do the deed, as Giraman had just finished collecting the taxes for the township that day. They also knew the lay of the house. Giraman will recover.

VICTIMS OF THE SEA.

Eighteen Massachusetts Fishermen Lose Their Lives.

GLOUCESTER, Mass., March 1.—All the church bells on Cape Ann tolled a dirge yesterday and the Gloucester folk are mourning the loss of fourteen sturdy fishermen who sailed away fo the schooner Henrietta last November for the fishing banks of Newfoundland, and for four others who threw the net and line from the deck of the schooner Resolute before they were swallowed up by the sea. Reports of the two disasters reached Gloucester and plunged the famous old fishing town into the gloom of mourning. All day the bells were tolling and in many homes there is wailing for lost husbands and sons.

The first and most appalling disaster was the loss of the Henrietta, which left Gloucester Nov. 23 last for the banks under command of Dominique Pinelli. Fish were evidently scarce there, for the next heard of the vessel was at Canso, where on Jan. 3 she rebaited, after which she sailed for Banquereau. Since that time nothing has been seen or heard of her by passing ships. She was probably overtaken by the gale of Feb. 12 and foundered. She carried a crew of fourteen men.

MERIT AND SUCCESS.

An Example of How the Two Go Hand in Hand.

That merit does not always win, is a self-evident truth, and that success is sometimes attained without merit, is equally self-evident. As a rule, however, the man who succeeds possesses merit that entitles him to success.

Dr. McChesney, who opened an office in the Wilcox block about three months ago, belongs to this class of men. Many people said when he first made his announcement: "Oh, he is only a traveling doctor, and in less than sixty days he will be seeking new fields." But it is gradually being recognized that he has only come to stay, but that he possessed a thorough knowledge of his business.

Many people in the city and from all parts of the county have consulted him, and are being treated by him. Any one of them will not hesitate to say that his diagnosis is thorough, and invariably correct; and that his treatment of catarrh and diseases of the eye, ear, nose, throat and lungs is simply wonderful in results. Some of his patients who were using ear trumpets three months ago are now able to hear readily an ordinary tone of voice. Others who were partially blind have fully regained the use of their eyes. Others who came to him apparently in the early stages of consumption have been fully restored.

These cases are beyond the scope of the general practitioner, whose time is necessarily given to acute diseases and his busy life of daily visits.

Go where you will in any city, and you will find that chronic diseases are only treated by specialists, men whose lives are given up entirely to the study of certain diseases. This is the work that Dr. McChesney is doing. If you doubt his skill and ability consult any of his numerous patients. He has developed a practice in three months that any physician would be proud of.

His office parlors are in the Wilcox block.

Such is the Case at Cooksville—Dr. C. R. Green Dead at Milton Junction—G. A. R. Camp Fire Planned—Modern Woodmen Are Thinking of Organizing at Afton.

COOKSVILLE, Feb. 28—Several people are very sick as the result of vaccination. Charles Davis and family had the doctor for a number of days and some at a distance cannot live. Many dare not take the chances for they say the virus is not pure. The two Mrs. Robertson while coming from Union last Monday had a tip over and bad shaking up, but no other damage. Charles Miller shipped his cattle to Chicago last Tuesday. The administrators of the estate of Charles Miller, sent two carloads of barley to Chicago last week. Than Slawson went to the lake fishing last week. The I. O. G. T. hold open lodge Saturday evening, March 3. A fine program is ready and all are invited. A right good time was had at the dance last Friday night. The C. D. F. know how. The play is in preparation and will soon be given. Due notice will soon be given so all can go. Mr. and Mrs. Lys Miller, of Milton, were visitors Sunday, Miss Avis Savage returned with them for a visit. Miss Mary Whaley, of Stoughton, was a guest at Mrs. Whaley's, last week Miss Alice Stoneburner of Avon, is visiting at her father's home. Mrs. Mayo is very sick; also Eugene Van Vleck. Dr. Evans attends them. Many people are sorry to hear of the death of Jason Miller in Edgerton. There is some talk of a new meat market. The Whist club met with Mrs. Love last Wednesday evening. Hon. G. E Newman and Ella Margary won prizes. Rev. Washburn, pastor of the Universalist church at Stoughton, preached last Sunday evening from the text "Wanted, a Visible Church." A sale on the Johnson farm last Monday was largely attended.

The remains of Mrs. Margaret Mainland were brought here from Racine, on the noon train Wednesday, and were taken from the train direct to the M. E. church where funeral services were held by Rev. Summers, after which the remains were taken to the Milton cemetery for interment. Mrs. Mainland was the daughter of John Addie and niece of George Addie Mrs Herb left last week for her home in Omaha, Neb., her mother, Mrs. R Hill having sufficiently recovered to justify Mrs. Herb's departure. TALK ABOUT AFTON PEOPLE.

Modern Woodmen Lodge Is Contemplated ---Patrons Meet---Personal Notes.

AFTON, Feb. 28—G. A. Lawton, Sr, was down from Delee last week on business connected with the new store building. The P. of. I. meet at William Brinkman's next Saturday evening. Indications point to the establishment of a camp of Modern Woodmen here. The subject is being agitated and the outlook is flattering. H. F. Antisdel is painting the old hotel building known as the "Square-house." Superintendent and Mrs. David Throne entertained a few Afton friends Thursday evening. Friends had a very pleasant time at the residence of George Shaw last Friday evening, and yet sadness mingled with the enjoyment, for this was a a "good-bye party," as Mr. Shaw and family will move this week to their new home near Rockton, Ill. The work of placing the iron roofing on the Lawton building was begun Monday Vienna P. Waite has returned from her visit with friends at Woodstock, Ill. F. P. Starr and family spent Sunday with Shopiere friends. Mr. Starr attended the teachers' meeting held there and reports it as a pleasant and profitable gathering. Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Smith were pleasantly surprised last Friday evening, when their home was invaded by about forty of their Janesville friends who came down to have a good time, and they had it. The second Demorest medal contest was held at the Baptist church last Tuesday evening and the attendance was good. Six young people contested for the medal and Miss Kittie Watts was the one victorious. Chairman Titus promises contest number three in about thirty days. Several of our school children are sick as a result of vaccination.

THIS IS WELCHMEN'S HOLIDAY

It Is Consecrated by Them to St. Peter. a Priest.

This is St. David's day, which is the Welchmah's holiday, and the floral directory says the leek is the saint's flower. St. David (or Dewid) was son of Xantus, prince of Cardiganshire. He was brought up a priest, became an ascetic on the isle of Wight, afterwards preached to the Britons, founded twelve monastries, ate only bread and vegetables and drank milk and water. He died in 544, after having, it is said, performed many miracles. Some historians say he was an illegitimate child. He was canonized a few hundred years after his death on account of his services in confuting the heresies of Pelagius. St. David's day has been celebrated by the Welsh and their descendants since 1500 by concerts and by wearing the leek in their hats or some other conspicuous place. Among the dishes partaken of on the day are "Swig," "Brown Betty," and mutton pies.

FANTASMA GORGEOUS AND FUNNY

Finest Production of the Kind Ever Seen In Janesville.

When a first class performance comes to Janesville the house is filled to its fullest capacity. Such was the case when "Fantasma" was presented at the Myers Grand last night. "Fantasma," already famous, is still improving and it is this season better than ever. The scenic effects were simply wonderful. People laughed until they couldn't laugh any more and then they giggled. It is the funniest and also the most gorgeous production that was ever put on the Myers Grand stage. The parts are all splendidly taken but the star is F. X Zeltner as Pico, the clown whose tricks and pontomimic gyrations were funny in the extreme. The production will be seen again tonight and everybody in town should go.

A TWO MINUTE FIRE DID $2000 DAMAGE.

"THE BELL" ON THE BRIDGE SCORCHED LAST NIGHT.

Department Had the Flames Extinguished In No Time But the Goods Were Inflamable and Burned Like Tinder—The Origin of the Blaze Is a Mystery.

A puff of flame came through the front windows of "The Bell" on the bridge at 10 o'clock last night.

Two minutes later the fire was out but the stock was ruined.

L. P. Dearborn and Frank Eller discovered the fire. They were sitting in the cigar store when they saw the reflection of the fire in the windows across the street. Mr. Dearborn poured what drinking water there was in his store into a pail and kicked in a panel of the front door of the burning store but he could not enter, although the fire had just begun to burn as the smoke was stifling. The fire was first seen in the vicinity of the stove on the west side of the store and near the front end. Inflammable curtains were hung on brass rods. It was burning in three places and on each side when Mr. Dearborn tried to get in and Frank Eller ran to box 18 and sent in the alarm. The goods burned were mostly umbrellas, curtains and hosiery, while a quantity of dress goods were damaged. Water also did some damage. Isaac Lewinkind, the proprietor, estimates his loss at $2,000 on the store and $400 or $500 on the building. He had $6,000 insurance on the stock which he says invoiced at $7 200 before he bought his last consignment of stock, costing $1,500. The origin of the fire is a mystery. G. G. Sutherland owns the building which is insured for $8,000.

Indicative of the efforts that must be made to stay the ravages of a single species of predatory beast is the information that the state of California has paid out $187,000 in bounties for coyote scalps, and has scalp claims against it to the amount of $118,000 still unpaid.

One of the curiosities of Pelham bay park, near New York city, is an enormous mound-like rock cleft vertically from top to bottom. Very Queer re the sensations experienced by the nervous and dyspeptic. Unaccountable palpitation, buzzing in the ears, flushing of one side of the face, odd taste and tingling in the mouth, constant restlessness, stinging in the gullet and sinking in the stomach, acute sensitiveness to slight sounds that magnifies them tenfold, low spirits—these are only a few of the charming experiences of the individual who suffers from combined nervousness and indigestion—a team that usually travel together. Their gay and festive career is, however, brought to a full stop by that greatest of stomachics, Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, which also overcomes their allies—constipation and biliousness. This popular remedy fortifies those who use it against malaria, chronic rheumatism and kidney complaint, restores nervous quietude and promotes appetite, vigor and sleep.

At Quebec the winter markets are very curious. Everything is frozen. Large pigs, killed perhaps months before, may be seen standing frozen in the butcher's shop. Frozen masses of beef, mutton, deer, fowl, cod, haddock and eels, long and stiff, like walking sticks, abound on the stalls. Milk also is kept frozen and is sold by the pound, in masses which look like lumps of white marble.

THE STATE DISGRACED.

The state of Wisconsin today presents an extraordinary and disgraceful spectacle to the world. Its governor and other of its state officers are on trial in one of its courts charged, in substance, with swindling private citizens out of many thousands of dollars. This leads the Milwaukee Sentinel to ask if any other state ever underwent such an humiliation?

The suit, it is true, continues the Sentinel, is brought against these officers as private citizens, but the transaction out of which it grew was the result of official acts, and those acts had for their purpose the robbing of the public treasury for the benefit of a political organ owned in chief part by the state officers.

The evidence produced in the case, whether it suffices or not to establish the charge of a conspiracy to defraud the plaintiffs, leaves no doubt of the fact of a conspiracy among the state officers to rob the state treasury. That is not an issue in the present suit, but the evidence elicited in the case already convicts the governor, the attorney-general and the late adjutant-general, who has been promoted to the assistant secretary of war by President Cleveland, of corrupt conduct in office, which deserves impeachment.

The disgrace which the state suffers in seeing its highest officers detected in what does not differ in principle from attempted larceny, is the penalty which its people pay for not discriminating between clap-trap and misrepresentation, and upright sturdy principle and common sense. The roster rascality is the natural and legitimate sequence of the great moral campaign of 1890. When the people choose to place their government in the hands of men who have no convictions but only the mere, manifest pretense of convictions, frivolous men, destitute of all the elements of serious character, ready to take up any cause that promises to supply votes, men who look upon politics as a same in which craft and duplicity are the proper and essential features, they have no right to expect a clean, honorable, and junicious administration of their affairs to follow.

JERE MURPHY ALLOWS THAT

A large diamond ring ought to be very becoming to Genaral Doe's military bearings.

We hope Major Sims will not arm himself with a dictionary of slang and march on Kaukauna while Senator Vilas is in Washington and Governor Peck is busy with a civil action in Dane county.

As none of the jurymen examined in the roster case included The Milwaukee Journal among the newspapers which they had read it didn't take long to find twelve men without prejudice in the matter.

Upon the whole it may be as well to anticipate that there will be considerable diverse argument in the roster case. We do not expect that Mr. Clark's lawyer will ever quite agree with Mr. O'Connor's lawyer, nor that General Doe's attorney will acquiesce in what Governor Peck's attorney may assume to believe.

HANSON WILL PAY IN FULL

Stoughton Man's Creditors Will Lose Nothing Through the Pincoff Failure.

H. T. Hanson, the Stoughton merchant will pay all claims in full. Developments prove that the failure was due to connection with L. Pincoff of Chicago, for whom he had been acting as agent. Mr. Hanson had endorsed notes for this company and all payments had been promptly met by the Pincoffs until last week. At the time the notes went to protest Mr. Hanson had signed outstanding notes to the amount of nearly $31,000 of which $13,000 was held by the Stoughton State Bank and the balance by the First National Bank of Chicago. Hanson had also sold Pincoff his packing to the amount of $8,500, upon which he had received no payment.

SPRING NEEDS.

WHAT EVERYBODY REQUIRES AT THIS SFASON.

Some Things Are of the Utmost Importance to You—This Will Tell You Just What You Most Need Now and How to Get Is.

In the spring changes always take place in our systems which require attention. There is a tired, languid feeling, a depression, the digestive organs become deranged, the blood is bad, causing the complexion to become affected and the person feels an inability to work.

At such a time a spring medicine is absolutely necessary. It will overcome all these conditions. It will invigorate the blood, regulate the digestive organs, clear the complexion and make you feel strong and well. The following letter written by Miss Nettie Fraser, of Paterson, N. J., will interest you.

"Since my childhood I have been extremely nervous, easily excited and at times suffering with extreme nervous prostration. A year ago last June I was so bad that the attacks were almost hysterical, and my appetite and digestion were in a terrible condition. I also suffered with great mental depression.

MISS NETTIE FRASER.

"I was induced to try Dr. Greene's Nervura blood and nerve remedy and the first bottle had a wonderful effect on my condition. After four bottles were used I was entirely cured. I never used any medicine that helped me so much, and I would recommend it in the highest terms possible as too much cannot be said in praise of this wonderful medicine."

We are constantly receiving just such letters telling of the great good which is being done by this medicine. You want health don't you? You want to get up in the morning and feel like doing a good day's work, do you not? And you want your children to feel strong and vigorous, don't you? Well, Dr. Greene's Nervura blood and nerve remedy will do all this.

It will give to you and your children perfect health and that is exactly what you want. It is the best spring medicine known and has the great advantage of being purely vegetable and harmless. It was discovered by Dr. Greene, of 35 West 14th Street, New York City, the most successful specialist in curing nervous and chronic diseases. He can be consulted free of charge, personally or by letter.

We have plenty of this Crash. Lastly—Our price is only 12½c.

JANESVILLE MAN COMMITS MURDER

George Cloud Locked Up at Kenosha Red Handed.

SHOT AN OLD MAN DOWN IN COLD BLOOD.

"Your Money or Your Life" He Asked John Calllaghan and When Cash Was Not Forthcoming He Fired—Caught in Hiding in a Cheese Factery Near Burlington and May Be Lynched.

A Janesville man is locked up in the Kenosha jail with the blood of a human being on his hands.

George Cloud is his name, and murder is the charge made against him.

John Callaghan, of Brighton, Kenosha county, one of the oldest and most prominent farmers in that county, was his victim, and greed for gold was his inspiration. Tuesday night about 10 o'clock, it appears. Mr. and Mrs. Callaghan were seated in their home. The door opened and a young man entered unannounced. He held a revolver in his right hand. Without speaking a word he deliberately walked across the room and confronted Mr. Callaghan. Pointing the gun at him he exclaimed:

"I want your money or your life."

"I am a poor man and have no money," answered Callaghan.

Shot The Old Man.

Without another word the cool-blooded young villain shot the helpless old man in the face and then turned and fled from the house. Mr. Callaghan clasped his hands on his face, reeled and fell to the floor. His wife was so overcome at the awful sight that she could hardly move. Finally recovering herself she hurried out and gave the alarm. Farmers swarmed to the scene of the crime. The injured man lay on the floor bathed in his blood. He was lifted to his bed and died in twenty minutes. Mrs. Callaghan gave a description of the murderer and David McKee had seen him run away from the house about the time of the crime. From the description given it was surmised that George Cloud was the guilty man. Clond had been in the vicinity a few weeks working for farmers. Sheriff George Bull, of Burlington, was notified and with a posse started out in favor of the suspected man.

Found Hiding Yesterday.

About noon yesterday he was found secreted in Peterson's cheese factory, near New Munster. He was taken to the scene of the murder and identified by Mrs. Callaghan and also by David McKee. He claims to know norhing of the crime. He said that his home was in Rock county, near Janesville. The sheriff and district attorney of Kenosha county left for the Callaghan farm and will take the prisoner to Kenosha. There was strong talk of lynching. The dead man was an Irishman by birth. He was born in Cork in 1831 and had lived in Brighton since 1856. His wife's maiden name was Ellen Flanigan of Burlington. He was a good natured and lenint man and had no enemies.

Neither Chief of Police Acheson or Sheriff Bear have been afficially notified of the crime and neither of them can place Cloud although Chief Acheson says that the name seems quite familiar to him. Cloud was captured by Lilly Murphy and John Barrett, two farmer boys. He was headed for the Illinois state line when caught. He did not offer any resistance and the boys turned him over to Deputy Sheriff Ball. A number of deputies were sworn in to prevent any violence to the prisoner. When asked to make a statement, refused to say a word. He was sullen and did not appear to care much where he went. Every effort on the part of the authorities to get any information from him failed.

HEAT MADE WINDOWS BEND OUT

When "The Bell" Plate Glass Window Broke a Sheet of Flame Shot Out.

"I pulled up right in front of "The Bell" at the fire last night," remarked Ben Barriage, the driver of the patrol "and I could see straight into the store. The fire was running through in waves. A moment later I noticed the plate window glass bow outward. They appeared to bend a foot or more, and next the crash came. The glass fell out on the sidewalk and a sheet of flame shot out under my wagon. I thought it was about time to move, but the first dash of water squelched the fire and there was nothing left that I could see but smoke."

GEN. DOE INNOCENT OF ROSTER FRAUDS.

ATTORNEY G.G. SUTHERLAND'S PLEA AT MADISON TODAY.

Held That the General Was Lugged Into the Case at the Eleventh Hour For Political Purposes—Mr. Winans' Talk For Colonel Clark Lasted But Half an Hour.

Janesville is playing an important part in the roster case today. Attorney George G. Sutherland opened for his client, General Joseph B. Doe, and pointed out the fact that the general was lugged into the case late in the day apparently for political purposes. A special to the Gazette from Madison says that Mr. Sutherland said that General Doe did not know of Woodard's bank being made a state depository and that he was ignorant of the details charged, and necessary to sustain against him the charge of conspiracy. Doe did not know of the organization of the Times Company and held no stock in the company. Mr. Sutherland ridiculed the idea that Clark could have gained any undue influence over the plaintiffs and thus get money from them.

Hon. John Winans also spoke for Cononel C. L. Clark but his talk was but half an hour long and most of the time was devoted to an appeal to the feelings of the jurymen.

Attorney Chennoweths' plea for Assistant Attorney General Clancey was along the same line with the exception of his asserting that it was the plaintiffs who were guilty of conspiracy.

Testimony Is Begun.

The defense finished the opening arguments at 11:30 this morning and the taking of testimony was then begun. W. J. P. McFail being the first witness called.

The case took a new turn yesterday, and it created comparatively little comment outside of the bar, for the reason that its full import was not understood.

Mr. Flanders had finished his opening in behalf of Governor Peck, and Burr W. Jones, of counsel for Attorney General O'Connor, had talked for two hours in explanation and extenuation of the acts of his client. The keynote of his pleading has been in the claim that the great stake involved for the defendants was in the menace to their cherished reputations and not in the paltry sum of $15,000 they were charged with having defrauded the plaintiffs of.

Plaintiffs Could Not Recover.

Suddenly Mr. Jones turned from the jury to the court and announced that the defense would insist upon the application of the rule that if the plaintiffs had suffered their loss or damage through turpitude or complicity in the wrong-doing which they complained of they should not be entitled to recover, and he read briefly from accepted authorities as to the meaning of this accepted rule. He said the plaintiffs must come into this case with clean hands.

Mr. Olin promptly responded that the plaintiffs were not suing to recover on any contract. The contracts brought into the case were in writing and brought in as collateral, showing the intent of the defendants, who are charged with having defrauded the plaintiffs by conspiracy. The rule which Mr. Jones asked to have applied was such plain law that the only question involved in the application of it was not one of the court, but a question of fact for the jury.

The court acquiesced practically in this statement by Attorney Olin, and Mr. Jones continued his argument to the jury on the theory that plaintiffs were knowing parties to the alleged attempt to defraud the state, which defendants had all along and still insisted had not been made.

Say Plaintiffs Were Parties.

In short the defense, through Mr. Jones and so far as he spoke it, maintained that there was no conspiracy to defraud, but if there was any possibility of having one proven they proposed to estop the plaintiffs from recovering their $15,000 from the defendants whose reputations were at stake by setting up the claim that the plaintiffs were parties to the attempted fraud.

Another important fact brought out in Mr. Jones' argument was that all the attorneys in the case except Mr. Flanders for Governor Peck maintained that the roster law was uncontitutional. Mr. Jones had read the law of 1887, on which O'Connor's opinion was given, and the opinion itself. He said that both of the roster laws were unfortunate acts, but defendants were not responsible for that. The law was passed with the usual safeguards by the legislature.

F. J. Lamb, for Senator Bashford, followed Mr. Jones and occupied the time till adjournment in detailing the line of defense of the acts of his client with relation to the alleged conspiracy.

SAY WILLIAM ALLEN "SKIPPED."

Creditors Want to Talk to the Former Proprietor of the Franklin House.

A number of Janesville merchants are just now anxious as to the whereabouts of the landlord of the Franklin house, on South Franklin street, William Allen. Mr. Allen is indebted to grocers, meat dealers and others to considerable amounts. He is supposed to have left for Watertown, South Dakota, rather mysteriously, and thus his creditors became solicitous. Before leaving it appears he sold his effects, leaving his creditors out in the wet. However, one of the principal creditors, Loeb & Gundel, proprietors of the Metropolitan Meat Market, assumed a number of the credits held by others, and placed attachments on the property, also garnasheed all the boarders supposed to be indebted to Mr. Allen. Mr. Loeb claims that his attachment proceedings will hold the property, and that creditors will secure a portion of their pay.

MISSING WITNESS FOUND AT LAST

WHY CHARLES FERRIS EVADED THE ASHTON TRIAL.

Says He Had Received a Threating Letter Advising Him Not to Tell His Story—Sheriff Bear Brings to Janesville to Explain to Judge Bennett.

Why Charles Ferris did not answer his name when he was called to testify in the Ashton murder case has come to light. Ferris had been regularly summoned as witness and attended the trial during the first few days. Then he disappeared. Since then the officers have been looking for him and yesterday Sheriff Bear located him in Fort Atkinson. He brought Ferris back to Janesville and before Judge Bennett. Ferris gave as his reason for disappearing that he had received a threatening letter that told him that he had better not tell his story. This frightened him and he left. Judge Bennett listened to his story and decided that if Ferris was punished by a jail sentence or fine his family would suffer most so he imposed the forfeiture of Ferris' witness fees, which amounted to a considerable sum, beside giving him a severe reprimand. Ferris was a witness for the defense and was to testify to hearing Mrs. Stone say she would commit suicide rather than be charged with clubbing Mr. Stone.

SOME FACTS ABOUT THE HERO OF RIO.

ADMIRAL BENHAM TO HAVE A PLACE IN HISTORY.

Cool, Courageous and a Gentleman, Every Inch of Him—His Name Has Been Written In Glory by the Force of that Gunshot.

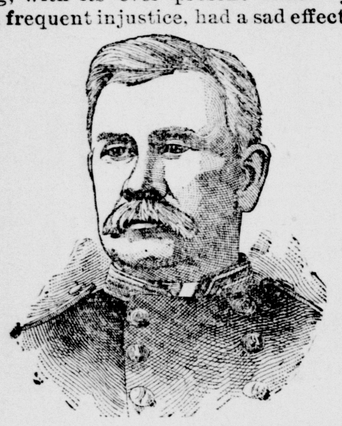

THE NEWS FROM Brazil comes upon the country like the flush of spring after a stern, black winter. As an American naval officer, ready to protect his flag, ready with a word and a blow, the blow swift upon the word, a courteous, conservative gentleman who looks well into whatever he does, Admiral Benham has written his name on the list of naval heroes. There has been no finer bit of work on the part of a naval commander in time of peace since 1853, when Commodore Ingraham, in Smyrna harbor, sent word to an Austrian man-of-war, who had kidnaped the Hungarian Koszta, that unless Koszta was returned by 4 o'clock in the afternoon, he would take him. The government gave Ingraham a medal, and Marcy, then secretary of state, justified the commander's action in a letter to Chevalier Hulsemann, the Austrian minister, which stands as a masterpiece in diplomatic literature, and justifies Mr. Marcy's fame as among our greatest statesmen.

While reading this news from Brazil I recall Gen. Grant's saying that he thought Benham an ideal officer, and that he did not believe there was a clearer head and at the same time a kinder heart in the service. Gen. Grant spoke with unusual opportunities of knowledge. Benham was captain in command of the Richmond, which conveyed Grant over the China seas. They lived for months upon terms of daily intercourse and in the closest intimacy, and it is within my personal knowledge that no one was more esteemed by the ex-President than the gallant gentleman who [illegible] new [illegible] to the American flag in Rio Janeiro.

Admiral Benham, as I know him, has unique qualities. He is pre-eminently courteous, with supreme common sense. I will not call him a sailor of the old school, because from what I read of these departed heroes, either in history or fiction, they lacked many qualities which modern taste exacts from a gentleman.

The illustrious Nelson could not, as I have read, speak a sentence without the disfigurement of an oath. And these types of the naval hero as drawn by Cooper and Marryat are grewsome characters to whom authority meant arrogance and injustice, and who spent their time between the punch bowl and the boatswain's cat. The cat with the nine tails was then the tutelar naval deity. That degrading and soul-destroying custom of flogging, with its ever present brutality and frequent injustice, had a sad effect, not alone upon those who suffered, but those who caused the suffering.

Benham has a talent for silence; rather reticent than otherwise; modest, with flashes of pleasantry; never in a hurry nor at a loss as to what should be done; firm, determined, and like most of the really brave men I have known, ruling without ostentation or exhibition of temper. He had fathomed the profound thought that temper is either a weakness of intellect or a disease of the nerves. To outward showing the mildest of men, caring nothing for the rattle and noise of power; indifferent to trifles; ready to overlook, forget or forgive venial shortcomings, but like steel when an essential thing came before him. I can see those firm lips come together, and those keen, earnest eyes flash, as with a courtesy of manner worthy of Lord Chesterfield he informed the Brazilian admiral in soft, gentle, half hesitating tones that he meant to protect the humble Yankee skipper and that he would sink any ship that fired on the American flag. And he would have done it.

What the lawyers and diplomatists will do about Benham it were in vain to predicate. It is clear that Benham's prompt defense of our flag has struck the people's heart. No American but will feel prouder as he realizes the power of his country in these far southern seas, as he feels that brave men are ever on watch and ward to give the American in honest pursuits the protection of his country. In this we have the prestige, the true grandeur of a nation. And as well as we can understand the proceedings of Admiral Benham, they are in keeping with his character. We note the absence of bluster or menace; the patient, careful way in which he studied the case—his warnings to the insurgents; his efforts to avoid controversy by keeping them out of trouble, and all else failing, courtesy, persuasion, reason, argument, friendly good will—that final appeal to his guns, and the inexorable declaration that he would treat as a pirate whoever fired on his flag.

JOHN RUSSELL YOUNG.

CHARACTERISTICS.

This is told of Tom Reed's schoolboy days: "If anyone knows of any reason why these apples should not touch the lips of Tom Reed, let him speak now, or forever after hold his peace," said he one day right under the master's nose. And he gave a great bite at the first red-cheeked apple in his hand. Quick as a flash, out came the birch, and with equal skill at repartee, the pedagogue said: "If anyone knows any reason why this rod should not warm the jacket of Tom Reed, let him speak now, or forever after hold his peace." "I do!" said Tom. "Name it," replied the master. "Incompatibility!" He did not get that whipping.

A sudden gust of wind took a parasol from the hand of the owner, says the Scottish American, and a lively little Irishman, dropping his hod of bricks, caught the parachute. "Faith, ma'am," said he, "if you were as strong as you are handsome, it would not have got away from you." "Which shall I thank you for first—the service or the compliment?" asked the lady, smiling. "Troth, ma'am," said Pat, again touching the place where once stood the brim of what once was a beaver, "that look of your beautiful eye thanked me for both."

To be photographed while you doze in a corner of your pew at church is one of the latest terrors. The kodak has made its way into the pulpit. An Irish clergyman, the other Sunday, during services, took a snap shot of his congregation. To thus steal a march upon sleeping members may be keenly resented by drowsy worshipers. Many persons regularly in the habit of sleeping during sermons stoutly deny the charge. In these disputed cases appeal may be made to the minister's handful of negatives.

A Whimsical Chap.

Once tried to quote Bulwer (was it Bulwer?) and said, "Great aches from little toe corns grow," and altho' he didn't exactly quote he got there, got there as it were, with both feet, at least with a part of both.

"Toe be or not to be,' said Shakespeare, (or Bacon?) and he toe, may not be far off. Foot it over hill and dale, 'til you are weary and footsore, and you cannot find such bargains as we offer in building sites, Homesites, for on these and the prices of the same and terms, too, we always did "toe the mark." For some reason we are this spring getting onto the goods, the prices and the terms with both feet. And so, with Hamlet we soliloquize.: "The wonder grows", why people are not "up in arms" when the prices we quote are looked into. You can get a home, if you wish, so long as we are in the business; hard times don't count. If you are not earning so much money as you did last year, we will meet you; it don't matter.

Homesites and Homes are our fad; to help people get 'em is what we are on earth for, this time.

The main secret, we suppose, why we always get the major part of the real estate trade going, is that we own a large part of the property that we offer. Another part of the secret is, we deal every time so that our customer sends to us his or her friend when they want to deal.

Our beginnings here were not large, but so true it is that "Great oaks from little acorns grow," that the "birds of the air" have their homes,—build their nests,—in the result of our grain of mustard seed. Come over and roost with us. Yours very truly,

GEO. L. & SARAH H. CARRINGTON.

Blindness.

If there is any affliction more grievous than another it is loss or impairment of sight. The man or woman who is compelled to go through life in darkness is always an object of pity.

That many diseases of the Eye that lead to total loss of sight are curable, if taken in time, and scientifically treated is readily admitted. Janesville is fortunate in having added to her staff of physicians an whose skill is recognized and whose pratice has already developed to a degree that seems wonderful. Dr. H A. McChesney possesses skill in treating diseases of the Eye that is indeed remarkable and many people are enthusiastic in his praise.

Glasses.

The aid to failing Eye sight are always a blessing, when properly fitted but any one who is compelled to wear them will admit that the Eye should be skillfully ekamined by a scientific man who understands not only the mechanical methods but also the delicate construction of this most delicate organ.

Dr. McChesney claims that in a large majority of cases the eye needs treating more than it needs artificial aid, and that when properly treated, that the natural vision can be restored without the aid of glasses. After a thorough and scientific examination and treatment, the doctor furnishes glasses when needed, without additional charge.

Deafness

next to the loss or impairment of sight, the loss of hearing is always considered the most grievous. Dr. McChesney's skill in treating deaf people is second to that of no specialist in the country. One of his patients, Mrs. F. L. Smith, is a lady who lives near the Lutheran church in the urth ward. Two months ago when she commenced treatment with Dr. McChesney, she was unable to hear the chime bells, and she had been so deaf for 15 yoars, that she could hardly hear a sound. Today you can converse with her comfortably and the chances are that at the end of her treatment she will be fully restored.

The doctor has many other cases that are steadily improving.

Catarrh

That disease that is so common in this climate, and that leads to such a variety of diseases such as consumption, bronchitis, asthma and a long line of minor complaints, yields readily to Dr. McChesney's skillful treatment. His blood remedies for catarrh in connection with his local treatment invariably brings relief and the worst cases are permanently cured. This of course requires time, and especially where the disease is deep seated and chronic, as is often the case, but if the patient will take the time and carefully follow the treatments a cure is almost absolute.

If you are suffering from any of the diseases which Dr. McChesney makes a Speciality you shoul lose no time in consulting him

At his office in the Wilcox Block.

REV. FATHER CLARKE, Sec'y to the Rt. Rev. Bishop of Columbus, Ohio, writes:

GENTLEMEN:—I cannot say enough for your Powder. It has cured me of an aggravated attack of catarrh when nothing else could help me. Am delighted with it. All my friends to whom I administered samples are quite enthusiastic over it. The good sisters speak most encouragingly of their use of it in the Hospital under their care. I will do anything to speak a good word for the remedy to help others who are suffering.

M. E. FERGUSON, Custodian U. S. Appraiser's Stores, Chicago, writes:

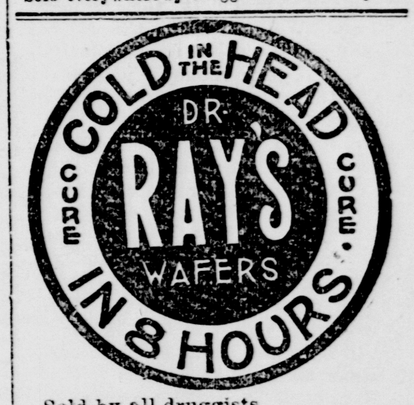

GENTLEMEN:—Being almost entirely deaf for a number of years past and getting no relief from many so-called cures which I tried, was induced by a friend to try Dr. Birney's Catarrhal Powder for my deafness. Have recovered my hearing entirely, so that I can now hear a watch tick plainly, it being held 18 inches from my ear. I look upon it as a positive cure for deafness and have recommended its use to many of my friends and can say I have never heard of a case where it has failed to relieve.
